

GM reports record first-quarter sales in China

Cheng Guan

April 27, 2018

American auto giant General Motors Co reported record first-quarter sales on Thursday in the mainland.

GM CFO Chuck Stevens told CNBC that GM has seen no slowdown in China despite threats between Beijing and Washington. "We expect to see another strong year when it comes to China," he said. [1]

They don't think the impact of the trade war between China and US will influence the sales even though the current serious situation. The analyst still think highly of the momentum of China, in the meantime, They expect to see another strong year in China. The following picture 1.

Figure 1: General Motors Co

References

- [1] NONE. first-quarter sales in china. ChinaDaily, 20(20), 27/4,2018.

1

¹From China Daily